PUBLISHER'S NOTE TO THIRD REVISED & AUGUMENTED EDITION

It's always a great honor to bring another edition of Boericke, the ultimate book on Materia Medica, complete in knowledge facilitated with latest updates and changes to accommodate the changing trends and perceptions in homeopathy. It is imperative to state that the last edition, at the beginning of the new millennium was widely appreciated and praised by the homeopathic fraternity for its indepth analysis, modern terminology, dictionary, footnotes, font, print and presentation.

This third revised and augmented edition goes further ahead as the use of the new font and italics accentuate the text and make the contents more comprehensive.

Readers will be delighted to see the insertion of tinctures in this edition as it was something which has been due it's worth for a long time.

Also the 'Rare and Uncommon Remedies' section has been removed as a separate section, but included appropriately along with the related drugs at more relevant places giving a comprehensive account of their viability and use.

To maintain the high standard of the book all abbreviations have been derived from the 'Synthesis Repertory 9.1' in the materia medica and repertory portion, thus making this edition of Boericke more adopt and complete in a wholesome manner.

As indeed always, we wish the readers a very happy experience while going through the book which as always has been both enriching and comprehensive in it's whole perspective.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE TO FIRST REVISED & AUGMENTED EDITION

This, latest edition of the Boericke comes to you at the beginning of the new millenium with a sincere effort to streamline it in trend with the other advancements in the field of homoeopathy in particular, and medicine in general.

To begin with, an effort has been made to correct all the grammatical errors and to technically upgrade the book in relation to modern terminology. For example, pressure deep in the orbits (glaucoma), without making any changes in the text of the whole book. The modern terminology, confined to brackets throughout the text has been co-related with various source books like, Dictionary of Practical Materia Medica by Dr. J. H. Clarke; 1001 Small Remedies by Dr. F. Schroyens; Handbook of Materia Medica by Dr. T. F. Allen; etc.

This edition has further been facilitated by foot notes given at the bottom of the page, for instance, Pg. 25, throat deafness¹: - 1—Hearing—impaired—tonsils enlarged (1001 Small Remedies, edited by Dr. F. Schroyens), which further elaborate or explain the corresponding symptom, along with the name of the source book.

All the abbreviations and names of the drugs, in the book and repertory are now, according to the Synthesis, like Thuya - Thuj.; Helleb. - Hell.; etc. Also, all the spellings have been corrected according to Dorland's 28th edition, for instance diarrhoea is now diarrhea; anaesthesia is now anesthesia; etc.

The sequence of Mind, Head, Eyes, etc, in the drugs have been arranged according to those in the Kent's Repertory throughout the book to maintain a more orderly and uniform pattern.

Aluminium silicata and Kaolinum have been merged as one drug as they are one and the same.

In the repertory section of this book, the same pattern has been maintained but the chapters have been re-arranged in accordance to Kent's Repertory to minimise confusion. An Index to the Repertory has been incorporated with the meaning of words along with the correlated page numbers, rendering it more complete and convenient to use.

The previously existing Indian Drugs have been provided with more information and new additions.

A special section on some commonly used Nosodes has been added in this volume along with a re-arranged Rare and Uncommon Remedies, throwing more light on this, comparatively under-studied field of homoeopathy.

And last but not the least, an Index of the drugs, with both common and Latin names, has been introduced in the beginning of this book under Contents with the proper listing of all the chapters as well, to give a head start to the reader in his quest to explore the vast sphere of knowledge that this edition is going to provide.

The Publishers wish to acknowledge to Dr. P. Sivaraman, editor of the first augmented and revised edition and Dr. T. J. Bhagat, B.H.M.S. (Delhi), editor of the second re-augmented edition, for their untiring labour in editing this manual and presenting it in the present shape.

PREFACE TO THE NINTH EDITION

Dr. W. Boericke
The Author

In preparing the ninth edition, I have followed the lines laid out for all the previous editions, namely, to present in a condensed form the homeopathic materia medica for practical use.

The book contains the well known verified characteristic symptoms of all our medicines besides other less important symptoms aiding in the selection of the curative remedy. All the new medicines and essentials of the published clinical experience of the school have been added. In its present compact form, it contains the maximum number of reliable materia medica facts in the minimum space.

I have tried to give a succinct resumé of the symptomatology of every medicine used in homeopathy, including clinical suggestions of several drugs which have not yet been based on provings, thus offering the opportunity to experiment with these and by future provings, discover their distinctive use and enlarge our armamentarium.

I am aware that there is a difference of opinion about the advisability of further introduction of remedies, especially of some which as seem obsolete or to some minds, illusory. But it is not for the compiler to leave out information about any substance that has received the clinical endorsement from a reliable source.

Our materia medica must include all substances which have been proved and which have been used with apparent efficacy. It rests with the individual student to judge for himself the accuracy and reliability of such observation. In this connection, I cannot forego to avail myself of the high authority of that master of homeopathy, Dr. Constantine Hering, who favoured the introduction of all remedies capable of producing reactions in the body that may guide us to their medicinal employment. "Homeopathy is essentially not only many-sided but all-sided." She investigates the action of all substances, whether articles of diet, beverages, condiments, drugs or poisons. She investigates their action on the healthy, the sick, animals and plants. She gives a new interpretation to that ancient, often quoted saying of Paul, "Prove all things—a new meaning, a new application that acts universally." Elimination of the useless may gradually take place with the growth of accurate physiological and pathological knowledge."

Again, imperfectly proved remedies necessitate the use of names of diseases at times instead of the component symptoms that alone are the legitimate guide to the choice of the curative remedy. Here, too, I have Hering, as a pioneer guide for the legitimacy of this method, which he also followed in his great work, the Guiding Symptoms. He said that he used the disease designations not for the purpose of recommending the particular remedy for that disease, but to show the great variety of remedies that may be used for any form of disease when otherwise indicated. For the same reason I have included nosological terms in the symptomatology and the therapeutic index, as this is a practical handbook for every-day service, and an aid for finding the curative remedy ought to be utilized. As Dr. J. Compton Burnett expresses it:

"The fact is, we need any and every way of finding the right remedy; the simple simile, the simple symptomatic simillimum and the farthest reach of all-the pathological simillimum, and I maintain that we are still well within the lines of homeopathy that is expansive, progressive, science fostered and science fostering."

The dosage needs some apology. It is, of course, suggestive only; more often to be wholly disregarded. I have followed the lines of the earlier homeopaths in this regard, and given what was then considered the usual range of potency, to which I have added my own experience and that of many observing practitioners. Every teacher of materia medica is constantly importuned by students to suggest the potency—something to start with at least.

The book is in no sense a treatise and must not be considered or judged as such. It is as accurate and reliable a compilation and the fullest collection of verified materia medica facts and clinical suggestions as it is possible to obtain with the compass of the volume. It supplements every other work on materia medica, and if used as a ready reminder of the essential facts of our vast symptomatology and as an introduction to the larger books of reference and record of provings, it will fulfill its purpose and prove a useful aid to the student and general practitioner. As such it is again offered with much appreciation of past endorsement to his professional brethren.

I have been aided in seeing this edition through the press by the efficient help of Mr. F.O. Ernesty, who has lightened the labor of making the manuscript more acceptable to the printers, and I desire to express my hearty appreciation of this kind and helpful service.

PREFACE TO THE REPERTORY

Dr. Oscar E. Boericke
Compiler of
The Repertory

With the advent of the incomparable ninth edition of the progressive Pocket Materia Medica, its modest companion, the Repertory, had been completely remodelled and brought up to date, by embodying much of the newly incorporated material. Many of the sections have been carefully rewritten, and with appropriate expansion, offer a more trustworthy guide for the selection of the homoeopathic remedy. A few prefatory remarks, pertaining to the practical and expeditious use of the repertorial contents, may assist in clarifying a certain inevitable obscurity of plan.

First, in conformity with established repertorial methods, the division of the sections in somewhat the old Hahnemannian order is adhered to, and may be stated as follows: Mind; Head; Eyes; Ears; etc.

Secondly, for the purpose of convenience, solely, headings and sub-headings and specific conditions or symptoms comprised under the latter are arranged in alphabetical order, and this is more or less consistently adhered to throughout the entire work. For example, under Mind the headings read, Awkward, Brainfag, Catalepsy, etc.; likewise the heading Delirium embraces its various phases in alphabetical order.

Thirdly, all headings when extensive in scope—e.g. Headache, are presented under definite captions in the following order: cause, type, location, character of pain, concomitants, nodalities—i.e., aggravations and ameliorations. It is to be observed that some headings include only a few, whereas others include all of these divisions. This method has been resorted to simply to facilitate the task of the use of the repertory.

Fourth, to preserve uniformity, the technical names of diseases are bracketed, thereby assuming a subsidiary place, which is in strict accord with the homoeopathic requirement, to prescribe for the symptoms of each specific case, and not for a mere name of a disease. Of course, being a clinical and not a truly symptomatological index (for which the practitioner and student are referred to the monumental works of Kent, Knerr and Clarke) technical terms are often selected as main headings, and when feasible, the more or less complete symptoms constitute the sub-headings.

Fifthly, the remedies are arranged in alphabetical order, and the italics indicate the more frequently verified clinical remedy. The abbreviations of the remedies are purely arbitrary and self-explanatory.

A complete alphabetical index, newly added, will surely offer much assistance to the busy practitioner, in the ready reference to the specific information desired.

Lastly, it is only by the persistent use of one repertory, that its peculiar and intricate arrangements gradually crystallizes itself in definite outline, in the mind of the student of the same, and thus he attains the ready case and practical insight of the collator, thereby rendering such a clinical bee-line well-nigh in-dispensable in our day of labour-saving devices.

Eyes: Inflamed eyelids (blepharitis).

Ears: Deafness.

Respiratory: Oppressed breathing. Throat feels closed. Cough with thick viscid, bloody mucus (hemoptysis). Sensation of a lump in the right side of throat.

Back: Excruciating backache. Pain shifts from the back to the abdomen.

Extremities: Aching in legs. Tired all over with restlessness. Wrists painful.

Fever: Hot fever, with intense radiating heat. Profuse, bad smelling sweat.

Skin: Hot, dry. Eruption of pustules. Shingles (herpes zoster).

Relationship: Compare: Vac. (same action); Maland.: The morbid product of the grease of the horse (a prophylactic of small pox and a remedy for the ill effects of vaccination; chronic eczema following vaccination).

Dose: Sixth to thirtieth potency.

VERATRUM ALBUM

(White Hellebore)

Verat.

A perfect picture of collapse with extreme coldness, blueness, and weakness, is offered by this drug. Post-operative shock with cold sweat on the forehead a pale face and rapid, feeble pulse. Cold perspiration on the forehead, with nearly all complaints. Vomiting, purging, and cramps in extremities. Profuse, violent retching and vomiting is most characteristic. Surgical shock. Excessive dryness of all mucous membranes. “Coprophagia” violent mania alternates with silence and a refusal to talk.

Mind: Melancholy, with stupor and mania. Sits in a stupid manner; notices nothing; Sullen indifference. Frenzy of excitement; shrieks, curses. Puerperal mania. Aimless wandering from home. Delusions of impending misfortunes. Mania, with a desire to cut and tear things (Tarent.). Attacks of pain, with delirium driving the patient to madness. Cursing, howling all night.

Head: Contracted features. Cold sweat on the forehead. Sensation of a lump of ice on the vertex (apoplexy). Headache with nausea, vomiting, diarrhea and a pale face. Neck too weak to hold head up.

Eyes: Surrounded by dark rings. Staring; turned upwards (epilepsy, meningitis). Without lustre. Lachrymation with hyperemia. Lids, dry heavy.

Face: Features sunken. Icy coldness of the tip of the nose and face. Nose grows more pointed. Tearing in cheeks, temples and eyes. Face very pale, blue, collapsed, cold.

Mouth: Tongue pale, cold; cool sensation, as from peppermint. Dry in the center, not relieved by water. Salty saliva. Toothache, teeth feel heavy, as if filled with lead.

Stomach: Voracious appetite. Thirst for cold water, but is vomited as soon as it is swallowed. Averse to warm food. Hiccough. Copious vomiting and nausea; aggravated by drinking and least motion. Craves fruits, juicy and cold things, ice, salt. Anguish in the pit of the stomach. Great weakness after vomiting. Gastric irritability with chronic vomiting of food.

Abdomen: Sinking and empty feeling. Cold feeling in the stomach and abdomen. Pain in the abdomen preceding stool. Cramps, knotting abdomen and legs. Sensation as if hernia would protrude (Nux-v.). Abdomen sensitive to pressure, swollen with terrible colic.
